New theme art kit

Fruit Picnic is a cute merge-puzzle game like 2048: two matching tiles join into the next one. This kit covers the art for a new theme.

Your style, your ideas. The examples show today's game, not rules. The only must-haves are on page 4.

The story

Plan 14 tiles that grow from small and simple (2) to a grand finale (2048), plus three bonus tiles (4096–16384) for after the win.

What to deliver

- ☐ 14 tiles, each with its background color (page 5)
- ☐ Game background (page 6)
- ☐ Win and lose art (page 6)

- Files: SVG, or PNG at 1024 × 1024 px
- Name tiles by value: `tile-0002` … `tile-16384`
- Win and lose art on a transparent background

Example: Fruit Picnic

The original theme: a cozy picnic blanket, a fruit ladder from cherries to watermelon, and a picnic basket on the win and lose cards.

The technical bits

The only must-haves, so the art works in the game:

- Tiles are square and fill the whole square, background included.
- Keep the top-left corner clear for the number badge, and key details away from the rounded corners.
- Tiles are small on phones (about 70–110 px), so each one should be easy to recognize and tell apart.
- Win and lose art shows at about 150 px.
